

It is essential that people have the freedom of choice to use cash if they wish Recently i had a payment of exactly £10.00 refused by a local restaurant, I will never return there Cash is legal tender and one should have the right to use it if one wants to Charities, churches, and small businesses are the ones suffering from this We recently had a problem with paying by card and it is only a matter of time before the whole computer system will be hacked and closed down or break down and the western world grind to a halt It should be against the law to refuse cash It is legal tender

Thank you
