Report

The purpose of these Regulations is to increase the amount that can be claimed from the Health Insurance Fund on the occasion of a medical consultation given by a general practitioner approved under the Health Insurance (Jersey) Law 1967. With effect from 1st October 2000, the amount that can be claimed will be increased from £10.50 for each consultation to £11.00. The amount was raised to £10.50 in October 1999, having been fixed at £10 from October 1996. In 1999 there were approximately 380,000 consultations (not including HIE) that attracted a claim under the Health Insurance (Jersey) Law 1967.

Explanatory Note

These Regulations increase the standard rate in respect of medical services provided by an approved medical practitioner from £10.50 to £11.00 with effect from 1st October 2000.
