I would be against a super market for all the adverse repercussion listed in you advert.

There are plans for one or more in St Helier therefore it certainly would not be necessary to have on in St . Peter as well .

There are already three large super markets plus five smaller ones in St. Peter, St. Ouen and St. Brelade. We must remember that it will need a large amount of staff.

Jersey already has a large population with states departments ans infrastucture showing signs of being unable to cope with the present work loads.

Thankyou for allowing me to contribute-for what it's worth!

regards

Judith Quérée
