

Hi there

Thank you for the opportunity to comment. Whilst I am in favour of independent taxation as a concept, the law was rushed as the former treasury minister was determined to introduce something and as a result is poorly thought out. There are many detrimental consequences and issues with the law that have not been dealt with. All of these have been communicated repeatedly to Revenue Jersey in many fora but have been ignored.

As a result, I am strongly in favour of making this optional rather than mandatory. For transparency I am a married woman who is the main earner.

Whilst Revenue Jersey will say they consulted on both the first and second parts of the law, I agree they did but they have not responded to any feedback or dealt with concerns. This either needs to be optional or dropped and done properly.

Thanks again for the opportunity.

I would like this response to remain confidential.

Many thanks
