

I think it's easy to fix.

Develop a shared care pathway with primary care.

Once diagnosed a GP can take over repeat prescriptions.

You could have a nominated GP lead for each Surgery who could be responsible for minor medication changes within a protocol.

Other GPs could do repeats as needed.

I'm sure it works in UK.

I'd be happy to help, I am a GP