

Dear Sirs,

I believe that the event should be put on as a charity event and all proceeds go to the charities that need it. If the people are complaining about paying so much for a ticket they won't go, if the event holds are complaining about paying they should let someone else hold the event.

I would like try and understand why the cost for police is so high... but that us another question.

Kind regards

David