Driving Licences: theory test P.155/2011

THE STATES commenced consideration of a proposition of the Comité des Connétables concerning a theory test for Driving Licences and of an amendment of the Minister for Transport and Technical Services that after the words “to agree”, there should be inserted the words “, in accordance with (1) of Proposition 104/2010, the Sustainable Transport Policy approved by the States in December 2010, to re-establish a reducing trend in road injury rates, the Minister for Transport and Technical Services is requested to ensure that the task force set up to establish a Road Safety Strategy specifically considers the proposal from the Comité des Connétables,” and to replace the words “to request the Minister for Transport and Technical Services” with the words “if considered effective then”.

THE STATES, following some discussion, acceded to a request of the Minister for Transport and Technical Services that his amendment to the proposition be withdrawn.

THE STATES, having resumed consideration of the proposition of the Comité des Connétables, adopted the proposition and agreed that a person should have passed a theory test before being granted permission to drive on the road as set out in the Appendix to the report of the Comité des Connétables dated 5th September 2011; and requested the Minister for Transport and Technical Services to bring forward for approval amendments to the legislation to provide for these changes to take effect.
